the theater.

The pictures are very good, especially true of the comedies. There is many a hearty laugh in the sketch called "A Hot Time in Old Rome Tonisht," as put on by Chantrell, Schuyler and Green, while the Eight English Roses have a very fair dancing act in which they introduce some very pretty chorus trio and duet steps. It is a good show and one of which your friends will say, "Go, by all means; the wire act alone insures against being fooled as it is worth the price of admission, no matter what price you pay for your seal. ent will be made in to morrow's Bulletin on the features which will appear at this house the last three days of the week.

POETRY

THE STREAM THAT IS NEVER CROSSED.

many a sorrow and pain As we tread the path of life;
There's many a grief and lasting woe.
And the way is tell and strife.
But the hardest load we have to bear
Is the labor and strength that's lost
In building the bridge with tellsome

O'er the stream that is never crossed. We have freiting and worry from mora till night.

And angulah weighs on the heart:
The thorny way seems hard to right,
And life is a bitter part.
But there is a burden greater yet,
Much peace of soul it has cost.
It is building a bridge with tell and sweat

O'er the stream that is never crossed, There's looking for crossings all the And searching along the shore.

For a bridge or ford along the way.

We shall never travel o'er.

There's sighing for useless toys in

And dreaming of chances lost;
And dreaming of chances lost;
Sut 'lis hardest to bridge with might
and main
The stream that is never crossed.

Then gather the roses along the warf And treasure the fragrame rare; Rejoice in the bright and joyous day Refusing to borrow care. For sorrow and pain will surely come And your soul will be tried and tossed; But don't be bridging to reach your O'er the stream that is never crossed.

THE LAND OF SHADOWS.

Land of Shadows is the Land of The realms of the "Might have been."
And it lies just beyond the mountaint called "Schemes."
It is close to the Land of "Begin."
Pheir shores do not meet, though the romate rays
Of the sumphine of Hope oft have shore shone
On them both in the dawn, but it lights up the days
Of the band of "Begin" alone.

The Land of Shadows is the Land of

The Land of Shadows is the Land of The Land of Shadows is the Land of Shame.

The shame of our imperfect wills. Where impulses burst for a moment is flame.

And die ere they light up the hiller I'd much rather live in the Land of "Begin," Where dreams and where doubts are unknown.

Where the gods of the land bid men rise up and win.

Through the strength of affirming, alone.
